List of changes for website

Home

Top of prints section collection

Change Sommerset to - Somerset archival papers

Add Cromer Pier collage image to home slider widescreen view

Prints - -Ony the first line of text from each print has been transferred over not the whole text which I sent you this needs to be added to each print please!

Prints collection

Citizens & Wastrels

-When you change from the collection to the actual print in the top right the logo typography changes from EXO 2 to a different logo font. Can it all be the same Exo 2 on each pg?

1. Contractor should be Contracted = size is incorrect 50 x 40 cm W x H cm / medium linocut
2. Driven = size is incorrect 50 x 40 cm W x H cm / medium linocut
3. Wacked = size is incorrect 50 x 40 cm W x H cm / medium linocut
4. Busted doesn't have size on it = 50 x 40 cm W x H / medium linocut

-Can we put the 4 x gangster series together in a line so they are together: Order – Contracted, Driven, Wacked, Busted

Each of these gangster prints is just lino cut not reduction linocut please change on the roll over

Laying down the Law no size = 60 x 30 cm (W x H)

Death Dances – This project is currently being developed, visit again soon to see the outcomes of this collection inspired by Hans Holbein's Dance of Death.

Games and players

-Hierarchi of Anarchy – size missing 50 x 50 cm

-The other prints in this collection from ace of diamonds to joke 2 needs to change to £40 each print of the small black & white images or complete set of 14 prints £350

-They also need to change the medium to Zinc Lithography

Gods & monsters – At the top of the collection in the header text change to

A portfolio of alphabet inspired prints illustrating the surreal creatures and spiritual powers of the mighty legendary Gods and mythical beasts from the underworld. Inspired by Ovid's Metamorphosis, Greek Mythology and childhood memories. Themes include the fusion of villain and hero (Picasso's Minotaur), the passage of life, and good versus evil.

God & Monsters – each image needs to say

Medium:- Linocut and Woodblock

Size : 57 x 37 cm W x H

Price: £195 each - complete set of 30 prints £2500

Bala – wrong image used not the ceramic piece

Medusa – wrong image used not the ceramic piece

Ra – wrong information for medium, size , price, description

Inferno

Some of the titles have been cut down from the original

The War – missing 3 of the other images from this image can we have them all together on one screen like the future image with an expand click button?
Dimensions Various paper size 76 x 56 & 40 x 50 cm

The Fall - 56 x 76 cm each sheet of paper in description

-Today should be as follows please change – the text is incorrect see below to copy in

Title: The Devils in the Deal

Medium: Linocut

Dimensions: 76 x 56 cm (W x H)

Edition: 30

Price: £325

We stand, arms crossed and say "We merely observe."

But we, in our deals with the devil, unleashed the floods, the famine, the flames and the destruction.

Our endless online orders, with packaging that lays waste to the earth. Our continuous consumption corrodes the planet. Our greed degrades all life that we see. Our violence - verbal, physical and moral, violates all that we touch.

We laugh at others' misfortunes, mock the weak and deride the cries of distress, but the tables are turned. The remote control is wrested from our grip. We cannot outwit the devils and death.

We deal with the devils, daily. The devils deal with us, for eternity.

We must judge ourselves. We are the problem, but could be the solution.

- Move Night attack to the top with other wood engravings please

- Midnight has a bar with 1 & 2 under the image what is this for?

  Size is the wrong way round should be 76 x 56 cm W x H

Persons & Personas

The 8 x B&W etchings should all be changed to etchings with information below the same only the nae of each one changes.

Title: Inscribed (characters 1-8)

Medium: Etching

Edition: 50 copies

Size: 20 x 30 cm

Price: £150 - each character

Drawn and etched into the skin are common expressions and relate to the techniques used for this work. Inspired by the idea of our life visualised in our skin and the events of our lives becoming an outward manifestation of our identity, pieces reveal what we are born with and what we add – as tattoos, wounds, as visuals, as words. As 'manuscript' means writing by hand, so our stories are written on our bodies - the manuscripts of our existence.

- Change medium to reduction linocut please copy correct information in from below.

Title: Siesta

Medium: Reduction Lino Cut

Edition: 15 copies

Size: 40 x 50 cm

Price: £250

Sun shines too hot. Drink goes down too fast. Legs feel rubbery. Arms are dead weights.
This chair is too comfy. The air is too thick. Life is too hard. Every day the same.
Sit, snooze, wake, top up; slump, sleep, half awake, top up; out for the count.

- Step into the arena – incorrect text change to this please
- Title: Step into the arena
- Medium: Collagraph
- Edition: 5 copies
- Size: 20 x 20 cm
- Price: £75

Need to add text here from pat

Robots & Cranks

All medium should be changed to Reduction linocut

All images are incorrect with text information see the list with correct info

Search & destroy incorrect information please change as below

Title: Search & Destroy

Medium: Reduction Linocut

Edition: 30 – colour variations

Size: 30 x 40 cm (W x H)

Price: £125

No mercy

No heart

No love

No Soul

No life

Metamorph

Need to change this for the 3 new images coming soon set up as follows then we add the images when I print them ok

Title: Metamorph – Machine crusher

Medium: Reduction lino cut

Edition: 10

Size: 40 x 50 W x H

Price: £195

The sound of crushing: broken glass cracking and metal crashing.

The huge crushing machine yawns wide its jaws ready to feast on the next metallic snack and then spit it back out as a perfectly packaged parcel.

The machine controls who its next victim will be. Its iron claw reaches forward and clamps down with pincer action, grabbing the dead shell which once took people to far away adventures of mystery and fun.

Re-cycled, re-mapped, re-planned for the future. Precious metals are melted and re-built into the next gadget, with which, humans will destroy the world.

Title: Metamorph – Escape from Alcatraz

Medium: Reduction lino cut

Edition: 10

Size: 40 x 50 W x H

Price: £195

The electric door backs off and he goes - making his escape from the factory that would put him to work alongside all the other bots.

The future is bright: there is a new dawn, a new horizon is coming. But watch out! The next generation of AI is now out there, amongst us all, planning and dictating our futures, without us even knowing it.

Title: Metamorph – The day after tomorrow

Medium: Reduction lino cut

Edition: 30

Size: 40 x 50 W x H

Price: £375

After the bombing stopped and the clouds of dust settled, the mountains of rubble were clearly visible piled up high; wastelands as far as the eye could see.

After the great wave from the sea had washed everything away in its path, the destruction was clearly visible. Tossed and thrown out of place, all is discarded and lost. The riverbeds now run dry, cracks in the clay open up the wounds from the disaster and reveal scars on the natural landscape. Wilderness lost, habitats destroyed.

After the storm comes the calm and now it is time to rebuild and plan our way. The machine survives and marches forward looking for any survivors. With violent creaking and cranking, the hydraulic pistons pump the oil around the machine, just as the heart pumps blood to the monster inside the machine.

But who is controlling the machine? As we perilously perch at the dawn of a new era, the machine comes ever closer to man's everyday existence.

Only the future will tell, but has time turned full circle and the dinosaurs are now back to rule the earth?

Run

All incorrect text and medium see correct list to copy and paste over

Information is from the books not the prints

Struct and Destruct

Cromer Lighthouse – incorrect medium

Title: Cromer Lighthouse

Medium: Collagraph

Edition: 10

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £175

Beaming out into the North Sea.

Beware invaders, beware sailing too close.

The cottage alongside is a holiday let.

Visitors drawn by the light, the beacon of the town.

Cromer welcomes; its lighthouse protects.

Night watch and house on the hill all incorrect text – 4 pieces

Add 2 new works

Image coming soon – use a holding image maybe

Title: Cromer

Medium: Reduction Linocut

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 112 x 60 cm – W x H

Price: £650

Nostalgia for past times is conjured when one thinks of a place by the sea.

A special memory is created, locked away for ever and treasured, until your return visit sparks it alive again.

The crashing sound of the waves pounding the sea wall.

Whispers and fragrances of sea salt mist fill the air; and the smell of fish and chips lingers around each corner. Queues of excited children line up for ice cream.

Architectural grandeur and elegance prevail with old, battered buildings still standing strong against the North Sea winds which have blown ceaselessly over the centuries.

The pier juts into the sea as a bold statement of British historical character, while the sounds of laughter and dancing from the musical performance reverberate and echo out to sea.

Title: Mill road Library

Medium: Collagraph

Edition: 10

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £175

Not just books - but where have the dreams gone, the adventures through the leaves, the words of writers, long gone, but who still speak to us now? The pictures that we daydreamed about, the flights of fancy enjoyed?
Not just books - but the seeds that were sown, the people met in the corners of this imposing building. An edifice that enthralled and helped us realise that we are small, but not insignificant. That we are one of many and can join with others - to save our libraries.

The Journey Man

Only the first line of each text has been copied over not the whole text

Need to move the order of the image - Missing number 6 – Darkness – you have put this as a book instead all of them are etchings

Add this to price of each print after the £125 - Complete set available for £750 of 10 prints

The Three Progresses

They should be spilt into 3 project groups or spaced out if possible like the table below or use a similar layout format to the sketchbooks and have 3 separate collections as its divided and the main piece at the top which is the curtain rises

The medium is all Linocut all need changing not woodblock and letterpress

Overview - The Progresses

This trilogy of works is Inspired by William Hogarth's A Rake's Progress, A Harlot's Progress and Marriage a la Mode, the eternal stories of money, corruption, dissolution, crime and redemption. In the book versions a contemporary style of writing is utilised to bring new rhythms to Hogarth's cycles. Rap, para rhyme and sharp word play tie up this great saga which is just as relevant in regards to eighteenth century London as the twenty first century.

Hogarth completed his A Harlot's Progress in 1731 and it contained six frames. A Rake's Progress followed in 1735 with eight frames and Marriage a la Mode was completed in the years 1743-45 with six frames. The order of these Progresses is slightly different and a consistency of eight frames for each cycle was decided on. Number four of each Progress is a single frame and is often a defining moment of the story. One frame: one key message. This frame is often used as a standalone image in exhibition. In writing a Prologue and Epilogue for the series as a whole, a frame is created in terms of artistic expression, narrative and homage to Hogarth.

In his titles, Hogarth generalised his characters to types - a Rake, a Harlot etc., but for this modern version not only were actual names given, but very specific details were created in the texts, hence the use of word play: Crack and Charlie make links to drugs and Spike the dog implies multiple meanings of violence. This is in the spirit of Hogarth who had Earl Squanderfield for his Marriage a la Mode – a clear link to the father of Crack, Charlie and Tara. He lives in a 'faux' mansion placed incongruously in the countryside.

Threaded through the work are instances of hope, humour and horror directly rooted in the vision of the artist as well as the moralities and codes of society. Little themes, running gags and asides underpin this version with the loyal dog, the fighting dogs, the moon (sometimes sinister, sometimes benign), and particularly the rats, which run through sewers and invade all areas of human life. Cityscapes background all scenes, some with specific geographic references (London), others universal in their topicality with modern urban life.

The stage is set. The curtain rises on a convoluted tale.

Each of the three narratives is played out for us to spectate and observe, reflect on and consider our own judgements.

Frontispiece

Title: The curtain rises

Medium: Linocut

Edition: 30

Size: 60 x 40 cm (W x H)

Price: £325

centred at top - The curtain rises with its text

	The curtain rises
Blank space line - insert text information about each project here
	Cracks progress
1. Crack could get by	2. Bad Bradley dreams	3.nice girls wouldn't touch him
4. caught	5. crack came out	6. crack took crack
7. taken a life	8. now it is the nightmare
Blank space line - insert text information about each project here
	Charlies Progress
1.concieved in a summer of love	2. to be safe in the city	3.wayward women working the web
4.caught – change to raided at dawn so not to confuse with other caught	5.to pay her debt	6.tara came in graduation gown
7.nearly died	8.Badly Bradley dreams
Blank space line - insert text information about each project here
	Modern Marriage
1.Younger sister to crack and Charlie	2.At the back end of town	3.Concieved a child
4.Young Wayne became wayward	5.behind the scenes	6.the river rats
7.walking the line into oblivion	8.Protecting a new generation

Watch & Bewitched

All the text is wrong

See the correct text for each print and the correct medium and price

Watch and Bewitched

In theatres, halls and streets a stage is set. Performers transform into characters who tell their tales. The audience become entranced: a spell is cast. Roles can be reversed.

Title: Pamplona

Medium: Etching

Edition: 50 copies

Size: 30 x 40 cm

Price: £150

The bull runs, streets full of tourists turn to streets full of terror as the bulls charge the men who dare to defy these furious beasts. Commentators, safe behind the barriers, use inflammatory language; crowds, cowering behind each other, yell encouragement or disparagement.
The bulls are the heroes in this barbaric spectacle.

Title: Run Run Run

Medium: Etching

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 60 x 20 cm

Price: £150

The bull runs, streets full of tourists turn to streets full of terror as the bulls charge the men who dare to defy these furious beasts. Commentators, safe behind the barriers, use inflammatory language; crowds, cowering behind each other, yell encouragement or disparagement.
The bulls are the heroes in this barbaric spectacle.

Title: Carrera de San Fermin

Medium: Reduction linocut

Edition: 10 copies

Size: 30 x 20 cm

Price: £150

The bull runs, streets full of tourists turn to streets full of terror as the bulls charge the men who dare to defy these furious beasts. Commentators, safe behind the barriers, use inflammatory language; crowds, cowering behind each other, yell encouragement or disparagement.
The bulls are the heroes in this barbaric spectacle.

Title: Knock out 1

Medium: Colour wood cut

Edition: 30 copies – variable colours

Size: 80 x 60 cm

Price: £150

Fight as a game.

Fight for life.

On guard, guard down.

Lunge forward, fall back.

Knocked out, a symbol of life.

Title: Knock out 2

Medium: wood cut

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 60 x 40 cm

Price: £100

Fight as a game.

Fight for life.

On guard, guard down.

Lunge forward, fall back.

Knocked out, a symbol of life.

Title: Knock out 3

Medium: Linocut

Edition: 10 copies – variable colours

Size: 30 x 620 cm

Price: £125

Fight as a game.

Fight for life.

On guard, guard down.

Lunge forward, fall back.

Knocked out, a symbol of life.

Title: Take Down

Medium: Etching

Edition: 30

Size: 20 x 15 cm

Price: £125

Fight as a game.

Fight for life.

On guard, guard down.

Lunge forward, fall back.

Knocked out, a symbol of life.

Title: Rumble in the Jungle

Medium: Linocut

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 56 x 76 cm

Price: £325

The procession passes.

The procession pauses.

Leaves tremble, people quiver.

The procession passes.

Title: Temptation

Medium: Linocut

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 30 x 40 cm

Price: £95

The lustful Catrina bewitches the viewers, drawing them in with her powerful gaze.

She symbolises life and death, but which path will she choose for you?

Title: Tolerance

Medium: Linocut

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 30 x 40 cm

Price: £95

The triumphant Skeleton entertains his spectators as he pours out his magic potion which represents strength and power. Will you dare to sample this deadly drink and play the game of life and death?

Title: Rudos Vs Tecnicos

Medium: Stone Lithograph

Edition: 10 copies

Size: 40 x 50 cm

Price: £195

Step into the arena, the fight is on, the crowd is roaring, but only one winner will stand triumphant and victorious. The identity of each fighter is masked. Superheroes battle amongst themselves. The crowd below beckons. Strength and power are on display as the magical minotaur steps into the arena to command supremacy over all that stand in his path.

Title: Tomatina

Medium: Lithograph

Edition: 30 copies

Size: 50 x 20 cm

Price: £95

The big trucks roll along the bumpy cobbled roads down into the village of Bunol near Valencia. The are no spectators in this festival, everyone is a participant.

Take aim and fire.

Swish, swash, slop – the target is hit. Now it is time to duck and hide.

Trucks roll out, water hoses come out to spray everything down, and then the party begins.

Title: Role reversal 1, 2, 3

Medium: Screenprint

Edition: 10 copies

Size: 60 x 80 cm

Price: £95

The roles have been switched.

The hunter becomes poacher.

The crowd roars, blood spills.

The triumphant stand defiantly.

Who is laughing now?

Ceramics

2nd line down mover the round one into the middle row – im sure we have done this before? Burn in hell so all the round plates are in the middle row

Text has been cropped off each of the descriptions of each piece of work

Sketchbooks need to add link to my Instagram page her as a separate window please

For further examples of drawings visit:

@thejourneyman [insert link]

-Remove all the prices nothing is for sale in this section

Medium: ink and graphite for all the black and white ones

Make locations into Architecture

Make sketches into Locations

Change title headings so is as follows

Characters Architecture Locations

Some of these are repeated and in the wrong folders please check them!

For examples semena santa out of sketches into characters folder

Artist Books – lots of information missing I have added it in again below

Journeyman - price change to £ £800

Future – price change to £ £750

Run – price change to £999

Gods & monsters – price change to £1500

Cracks progress – price change to £125

Contemporary street alphabet- price change to £150

Modern marriage price change to £75

Artist Books

The artist book lends itself well to the adaption and exploration of sequential narrative story telling. Careful consideration is given to all design elements of the book including layout, typography, pagination, and cover designs. The artist can control all design elements and apply the handmade craft to produce unique artist books.

All artist books are hand printed, signed and bound by the artist

Printed onto Somerset velvet paper 250 gms with archival inks

Title: Gods & Monsters

Medium: Linocut, wood block & Letterpress

Edition: 10

Technical info: 32 pp, 570 x 370 x 38 mm, hardback cover concertina book

Price: £1500

Published: 2022

A large format alphabet book illustrating the surreal creatures and spiritual powers of the mighty legendary Gods and mythical beasts from the underworld.
The works were inspired from a number of sources including Tales from Ovid's Metamorphosis, Greek Mythology and childhood memories or these surreal narratives and the fantasies they created in my own mind.
Each character blends the ancient and the modern as well as stimuli from other artists' interpretations. Picasso's Minotaur motivated the fusion of villain and hero which is a connecting theme running throughout several of the prints.
Further themes are explored including the passage of life with lovers rising to the heavens and demons dragging sinners deep into the depths of hell. The creation of the universe by the powerful Gods is represented through a narrative series of black and white prints which illustrate good versus evil. A combination of lino and wood cut printing techniques complement one another giving rich textural patterns and expressive mark making creating powerful visual imagery.

Journeyman text header needs to be correct text from below section

Title: Journeyman

Medium: Etching & Letterpress

Edition: 15

Technical info: 12 pages, 188 x 253 x 24 mm, hardback cover concertina book

Price: £800

Published: 2018

Journeyman was inspired by a surreal dream many years ago. With references to the artist's own experiences, but also in the spirit of the universal idea of the journeyman, it nods to everyman, every person. The labyrinth represents the twists and turns and blind alleys of modern life and reflects our confusion and despairs at decisions to be made, paths to take.

Choices made are in our power, but we can fall foul of authorities, beliefs, expectations and desires. With poignant use of symbolism, the jelly fish has babies and these both rescue, and are cared for by the journeyman. There is love and there are safety nets and the journeyman is like a dream catcher: but there is also the dominant theme of life's excitements, fears and dangers. A story that does not end: it evolves with whatever the times we live in.

Title: Run

Medium: Linocut, Letterpress, and collage

Edition: 10

Technical info: 16 pages, 34 x 57 x 20 mm. ½ bound hardback cover.

Price: £999

Published: 2018

RUN is an exploration of the sayings and expressions inspired by contemporary life. Machines are taking over and we are being run by them. With minds of their own and with features strangely like ours, with their big eyes, sharp teeth and weird distorted humour, we can see glimpses of how the media runs the news, how politicians run and ruin lives, and how fake news runs away with the facts. Steroid fuelled rockets power their way, running through lives, and sending the humans running for cover. Corruption runs through every vein and artery. Big bosses manipulate the workforce. Deception rules: rulers run riot. So, who controls who? Who is running the show?

Title: Future

Medium: Linocut, Letterpress, and collage

Edition: 15

Technical info: 24 pp, 275 x 380 x 16 mm, hardback cover

Price: £750

Published: 2018

Created in a time of great uncertainty there is an unease which pervades all areas of society. With the world's superpowers challenging each other and strutting like boxers in a heavy weight contest, parallels are seen between Kim Jong-un and Trump and Putin. Who will nuke the world first? Who uses nerve agents to poison one man, while potentially many are caught in the collateral? Greed dominates: power corrupts. Myths are referenced – who is burnt by flying too close to the sun? Global communication systems spread knowledge or fakery, rumour or subversion. The artist makes cultural nods to David Bowie and others and shows that popular music, which pervades every nation, is manipulated to mesmerize the populations of the world. With chilling resonances, this work reflects the times we live in, whenever that is, and whatever little details may appear to change. The Future is now.

Title: Crack's Progress / Charlie's Progress

Medium: Offset lithograph from scaled down original linocuts

Edition: 50

Technical info: 20 pages, 250 x 250 x 30 mm, hardback cover dos a dos artist book

Price: £125

Published: 2004

Crack's Progress

Loosely based on Hogarth's A Rake's Progress this is a modern fable of dark morality and crime and corruption. Crack, with his faithful dog Spike, fight and bite and deal in drugs. Using contemporary slang and rap rhythms the tale is told of the descent into the grim underbelly of society with the use and abuse of women as well as substances, but finally Crack is caught. He is convicted in a trial scene, depicted in the strong fourth frame. He comes out of prison further corrupted and continues but is finally driven crazy by his drug habit and he kills. He is sent to Bedlam (with more than a nod to Hogarth) and, in the final frame, a mad Crack appears to die. But the final Full stop is not the end.

Charlie's Progress

This second tale is inspired by Hogarth's A Harlot's progress. Charlie, Crack's sister, is more rooted in the family background as the opening scene shows the 'faux' nouveau riche mansion of her father. Her trip to London reveals the dark low life of London with drugs and violence as the norm. The corruption at the top of society is lampooned, but the victim is Charlie and also her younger sister Tara. Both girls are viciously exploited by their aunt – seen as like a black widow spider. Charlie recovers, painfully, from her addiction and seeks help from her brother Crack, in the final open-ended scenes.

Just as Crack had a companion, a dog called Spike, who was hard and murderous, Charlie has a cat, Flora who has kittens, but cruelly they are all slain in an indictment of aspects of society's continuing attitudes to women and children.

Title: Modern Marriage

Medium: Offset lithograph & Letterpress

Edition: 50

Technical info: 62 pp, 230 x 163 x 13 mm, hardback cover with screen printed band

Price: £75

Published: 2013

Modern Marriage had a longer evolution and proved more complex to interpret for a contemporary audience – even the title creating difficulties in how it would relate to ‘progress’ and to modern marriage patterns. Changes also occurred in the telling and drawing together of the Progresses with the interweaving of print and publishing through visual and textual references.

In scene one the viewer is introduced to Tara, a spoilt brat, who poses with her horse, as her father’s business empire is threatened and a luxury car is towed away. In contrast, scene two is set in the back end of the city where Den and his son Darren exist. But while Den thrives through a range of nefarious activities, he needs money laundering contacts and friends in the higher rungs of society. Darren is a waste of space. The two fathers come up with a deal and marry off the two youngsters. Thus ‘real rich’ meets ‘nouveau riche’: the eternal devil’s knot. Set in the environment of desirable waterside apartments (despite the rank mud and the view of wrecks) Tara and Darren conceive a child, Wayne, but also fall back into their dissolute ways.

In scene four young Wayne is neglected and sees sights of crime and horror, exemplified by the illegal dog fight. Darren gets into horrendous debt and from the bottom of the pit to which he has sunk sells his wife and son into pornography. But even this deal goes bad and he is murdered. Shocked into consciousness and blaming herself Tara decides to end her own life and that of her wayward son. But their fall is caught by Tara’s older brother and sister, Crack and Charlie. There are some signs that there may be redemption for all at last.

Bringing the three siblings together and connecting their lives to the redeeming powers of writing, teaching, art and parenthood, links are created to the artist and the stories, and also frame the series, which is finally printed, blocked and boxed.

Title: Contemporary Street Alphabet

Medium: Offset lithograph & Letterpress

Edition: 50

Technical info: 32 pages, 250 x 200 x 30 mm, hardback cover

Price: £150

Published: 2006

An alphabet book of modern-day street characters within the city with text by Pat Francis.
Inspired by some of the biting satires from history but conceived during the early years of the new millennium, this quite savage portrayal of the streets of our cities, depicts both sad and exploited victims, as well as their perpetrators. The cartoonish stereotypes and characters are presented through the form of an alphabet with crude texts reflecting the horror and humour of the metropolis.

Mixed media

Drawing – pagagini

This piece was inspired from the Labyrinth of Dreams project and shows the spectacular finale performance in the grand theatre. All the monsters and players have come to see her sing one last song. Inspired by a visit to see the great Ara Malikian, the violin player, and painted collaboratively with Rafa Armero.

Title: Pagannini

Medium: Painting onto the inside of a wooden wardrobe

Dimensions: 300 x 200 cm

NFS

Labyrinth of Dreams

Keep the price at £450

Needs an intro and this text

Labyrinth of Dreams

This collaborative project was made with Rafa Armero in response to a series of short stories which explore a lost man trying to find himself in a surreal world surrounded by chickens, monsters, hunters, and demons.

Alternating between split personalities, decisions are made which have future consequences.

As the moon emerges his darker inner desires and fantasies are played out in reality as he wanders through the labyrinthine streets of the deeply dark city.

Title: Arrogance

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Lurking the streets at night,

Twitching urges take over his mind.

Who will be his next victim?

Or will the hunter become the hunted?

Title: Condemnation

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Judgment day:

Crimes committed, blood spilt, bodies discarded:

Down comes the hammer:

Sentenced: bang goes the trap door.

Snap go the bones in his neck.

Title: Creation

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Navigating high above in the midnight sky
Stars are within a hand's reach,
Catching the dreams as they float on high.
Ready to deliver nightmares to the next victims.

Title: Evasion
Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage
Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)
Price: £350

Time to leave…
But no time to go. Nowhere to go…
Rumbling, rushing, roaring towards him…
His time has past…

Title: Greed
Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage
Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)
Price: £350

They came to dine: smart and strutted,
Like a bunch of festering swine.
Stuffed their faces, gulped the wine.
Soon to stop: necks on the block
Chip, chap, CHOP.

Title: Hunter

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Trophies in a row,

Memories of those swine:

How they laughed at him!

Who's laughing now?

Title: Illumination

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Flickering lightbulb,

A spotlight floods the mirror.

A searchlight reveals

What is looking at him.

Title: Lost

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Standing triumphant,

Victorious and proud.

Now ruler of the world

You all will listen.

Title: Obsession

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Down the back alleys stumbling.

Squawking and screaming,

Scarpering and screeching.

Blade scything, wings flapping.

Blood...

Title: Persuasion

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Coin drops: eyes light up.

The future is you; now you must make it.

Decisions to be made.

But what to believe?

Title: Reality

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

Clothes or hats to consider

What to wear?

But in the mirror

The soul’s laid bare.

Title: The Final Bow

Medium: Painting, Indian inks & collage

Size: 40 x 30 cm (W x H)

Price: £350

The grand finale.

The spotlight focuses.

The audience can see

The bare bones of truth

At last.

Others – this should be called = collage

Remove all prices for these works they should really be in the sketchbook section

The War Theatre needs this information can we make this a slider screen instead as its all one piece of work from different view points.

Title: Theatre of War

Medium: lino cut prints & card

Edition: unique piece

Size: 60 x 55 x 45 (W x H x D)

Price: £2000

This piece is a unique exploration of the idea of who is the audience, and who is the performance for? The concept of cutting elements from a two dimensional set of four prints which pan downwards into the depths of hell, to a three dimensional theatre set, produces different questions, differing perspectives and raises, as all live performances do, dialogues between performer and viewer. Nothing is static, just as the topics raised here, are not. But overarching all is the frightening theme of Big Brother looming over us, pulling strings and wielding power and control which seem to be taken out of our hands. However, an audience/viewer are not passive: they can, and must, react.

Painting

putaGallina - All the works with two words become very close together can they be separated?

Add – NFS

Need to add this text

This collaborative street art piece was produced with Pilar Munoz at La Curtiduría in Oaxaca, Mexico, whilst attending an artist residency at the studio. Reflections on the culture and life in Mexico and Lucha Libre tournaments influenced the production of this piece of work.

Title: Luchador

Medium: Painting and collage

Dimensions: 5 x 4 meters